MEMORIAM

REMEMBRANCE DAY AT MACDONALD

Last Tuesday, in a dignified Remembrance Day ceremony, Macdonald paid tribute to those who served and died in two World Wars. R.E. Powell, chancellor of McGill, introduced the speaker, B.C. Gardner, former chancellor of the same university. Mr. Gardner, in his memorial address, pleaded for a better spirit of understanding among peoples. He felt that the cause of world peace could be promoted by peoples everywhere if they considered individual human beings rather than the pronouncements of politicians. He insisted that Canada could do much to bring about a better world situation. Canada, Mr. Gardner stressed, has no territorial ambitions, has immense natural resources, and has been steadily gaining the respect of other nations by her intelligent and unbiased approach to world problems. The former chancellor stated that Canada should have no trouble in solving her trade difficulties with the United States; and urged the Dominion to pursue her work on the international front by, first, continuing her aid to underprivileged countries, and, second, by persevering in her attempt to bring about better co-operation by discussion and diplomatic intervention. Mr. Gardner was thanked by Dr. Dion, the vice-principal of Macdonald, and the ceremonies concluded with the singing of the National Anthem and the Academic Recession of the faculty from the hall.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

The Music Appreciation Club has undertaken, this year, to provide noon-hour music once a week for 20 minutes in the auditorium. Every month we hope to include an organ recital by Dr. Hanson, a presentation by some of the campus talent, and some recorded selections.

The election of officers was accomplished in a preliminary meeting - Lucretia Martin was voted President, Gloria Gray - Vice-President, Elizabeth Murray - Secretary Treasurer, and Sheila Gold - Publicity Director.

The gatherings are informal. Everyone is invited to hear the weekly presentations which we hope will become a tradition with the college.

The bulletin board will give notice of weekly meetings.

EDITORIALS

A SIMPLE TRIBUTE

For some of us, it is our first year; for some the second; some of us are entering into our third year, while for others it is the final year. Whichever it may be, one thing is certain- something contagious but pleasant has worked its way into our systems. It's the "Mac Spirit".

Somehow it seems to have begun from the first day of registration: New faces, new acquaintances, and before long new friendships. It speaks highly for Macdonald College.

Not a few persons from all parts of the globe have heard of this institution. The thorough scope of academic training, the high calibre of its professors, these and many other favorable facts have become the standard picture of Macdonald in the minds of people throughout the world. Some of us have come from nearby towns and villages, while others have travelled from overseas to prove this for ourselves. We have not been disappointed. Those of us who came in blind faith, have been rewarded.

Each day finds us growing in stature - mentally and physically. We are exposed to the lectures of men and women not so great as to fail to keep up with a changing world, not too great to recognize our inadequacies and deficiencies, yet great enough to devote their lives to making us worthwhile ambassadors of our country, and its ideals, worthy of ourselves.

It is not enough, however, that we be content to bask in the sunlight of the intellectual devotion and generosity. Others before us, have left a standard to be served and maintained. We owe it to them, to our professors and to ourselves to elevate daily the name and tradition known as Macdonald College. Merely to attend not enough.

"...When a youth was giving himself airs in the Theatre and saying, 'I am wise, for I have conversed with many wise men', Epictitus replied, 'I too have conversed with many rich men, yet I am not rich'!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

10/11/58.

The Editor,
Faitt-Ye Times.

Dear Sir:

To date there has been much grumbling about the food served at the Cafeteria. This grumbling may be due to the fact that many people feel it their duty to grumble, or that they feel deep down, in their little hearts, that there is really something wrong.

Breakfast at Mac is well worth the effort of getting-up. There is always the best variety in the breakfast tradition, with never the same thing twice in a row. Dinner, four days out of seven is top notch, and on the other days plenty to keep you going. Also hot things are hot and cold things cold, and this is the most common fault of the food business. Suppers are the hardest of all meals to organize due to the very limited choice of foods for the cook. Here the utmost is done to maintain variety in the supper meal, and this is perhaps as hard as preparing for final exams.

Let's hope that we think of some of the work and effort that goes into preparing our meals before we crab again. O.K?

Yours truly,
Rin Tin Tin.

Stewart Hall,
November 10, 1958.

Dear Sir:

This is just a personal observation, but I wonder how many other people have noticed the situation.-courtesy is sadly lacking at Macdonald College.

Last Saturday night, while sitting in the foyer I watched a group of eleven people, three of whom were sitting down. Naturally, the three sitting were honored Senior Aggies. Those standing, of course, were members of the fairer sex. Now here are two remedies to this deplorable situation, either the boys offer their places or the girls take the hint and leave.

One noon, last week, a boy I know held the foyer door open for ten girls and not one of them said "Thank you". Is it asking too much to expect a young lady to say a gracious "Thank you" for the courtesies extended to her? I certainly hope not!

Girls who smoke should buy, not borrow, their cigarettes. After all, it does cost the boys thirty-seven cents for each package, too. But on the other hand, it costs only one-twentieth of a cent for a match, so I think the guys should offer the light and please! light the cigarette for the fair damsel before you light your own.

Why is it that when a girl is struggling to get her coat on that the boys nearby never offer her a helping hand? It would take so little effort on their part.

Being courteous takes so little time and is going to be so necessary when we leave our sheltered life at Macdonald, and go out into the world. Why not get into the habit now and make life easier and more pleasant at Mac.

Yours truly,
"The Nutcracker Suite".

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

THE STUDENTS' COUNCIL

I had the pleasure and the fortitude to attend a complete meeting of the Students' Council last Tuesday night at six-thirty p.m. I attended as an objective observer in that I had never attended such a gathering before. I would like to give a few of my views concerning the conduct of the meeting, and the job that the Students' Council is doing. I was favourably impressed with the democratic and business-like manner in which the meeting was conducted.

The Agenda:

The following are the more important decisions that were reached by the Council: Report of the Constitution Clarification Committee; the financial situation of Campus clubs that do not have direct representation on the Students' Council; a Political Club; the Purchasing Committee; the Budget.

The Students' Council had appointed a committee for the clarification of the Constitution of the Students' Council. This committee was formed to bring the Constitution up-to-date, to assist in the interpretation of the Constitution by making it more understandable and to set a pattern that the other student organizations can follow in the clarification of their constitutions. The Committee was given no power to make the changes, but only to suggest them to the Council.

The first report of this committee was given last Tuesday. It concerned the acceptance of the Constitution's format which it had drawn up. It was accepted by the Council with the amendment that FINANCES be placed under Article IX. The second step of the process is now being undertaken by the Committee. Earle Dobson, President of the Students' Council, wishes that a copy of all Constitutions be placed in the Library when they are finished.

The Students' Council has sanctioned the formation of a Political Club on the Campus. The club will probably be under the wing of the Liberal Party, but the Council wants it to be known that any political club formed on the Campus does not reflect the views of the Council. It is hoped that sufficient interest will be aroused so that other clubs of this type will be formed.

The Budget for College Activities was discussed and accepted.

THE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ORGANIZATION

We are living in an age of alliances, pacts and federations: N.A.T.O., S.E.A.T.O., W.I., U.A.R., to name a few. The cornerstone of success in aims of these organizations is an intimate understanding of each other, among members, mutual respect, and sincere unselfish relationships.

At Mac, we realise that it is quite possible for any one of us in the not-distant future, to be a member of a similar organization representing our home farms, towns, provinces or countries. It is with a view to preparing ourselves for this eventuality, that the International Students Organization (I.S.O.) was organized two years ago on this campus.

It is as yet, too early to assess its accomplishments, but we are encouraged by the fact that membership is gradually increasing. May I emphasize that this by any means, a foreign students' club. We would particularly welcome more of you who, as hosts to foreign students, have a golden opportunity to learn much about guests, and do things that would fill their hearts with fond memories.

The activities in the past fall into two categories: Talks, by outstanding interesting personalities, and Socials. There is a growing feeling among some members, that the organization can better achieve its aims by including some programmes which would lend themselves to greater active participation by the members. So keen supporters are anxious to make the programmes so stimulating and engaging that members will lose no time deciding whether to go to the I.S.O. or some other event scheduled for the same hour; the I.S.O. will always take priority.

Meetings are regularly scheduled for alternate Sundays at 1:30 p.m. If you, too, would like to join us at the next meeting - this Sunday - and through your suggestions and willingness to say, "I will do", add a richer colour to the national atmosphere.

Gregg Rowe.

DRAMA CLUB

The first meeting of the drama club was held on November 12, 1958. It was well attended, and the following people were elected to the executive:

President	-	Tony Whittal
Vice-President	-	Helen Imison
Sec. Treasurer	-	Richard Beach

A letter, concerning an Inter-Varsity Drama Festival, which had been sent to the Lit. and Deb. Society was read. This festival is to be held at Queen's on January 31, 1959.

It was decided that the members of the club would think about plays which could be presented, and these would be discussed at the next meeting.

It was suggested that a dance be held to raise funds for the club, as this year the Students' Council is not giving funds for props, etc.

The next meeting was called for November 19, and it was moved that the meeting be adjourned.

GLEE CLUB

The first meeting of the Glee Club was held Thursday, Nov. 6, 75 people attended. Elected were: Lucretia Martin - President, Judy Rhodes - Vice-President, and Margaret Tourand - Secretary-Treasurer. The conductor is Mrs. Eloise Dorsey Martin, who has sung professionally and trained choirs for radio work.

It was hoped that the Glee Club could give a Christmas concert, but due to the lateness of organizing the club, this will not be possible. The Glee Club will be meeting regularly, however, and plans are being made for the presentation of a Spring concert.

Our conductor has stressed the importance of the Glee Club meetings being looked upon as an evening of recreation, and not rehearsal. Plans are being made for refreshments to be served at every club meeting.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY CLUB

The first meeting of the Animal Husbandry Club was held October 20 in Brittain Hall. At this meeting the following slate of officers were elected:

President	Bill McPherson
Vice-President	Ross Sagger
Secretary	Fred Pearce
Treasurer	Brad Whitman

A general meeting was held November 7 in Room M258. A brief outline of the activities to come will be given Friday, November 14. Professor Hargraves from Lethbridge, Alberta, will speak on "Trends in Selection of Beef Cattle". This promises to be an interesting evening. A judging competition and annual banquet are planned for the first week in December. Two films, "The Royal Winter Fair" and "Modern Milking" were shown. Refreshments were served.

Pat Frizzle.

SELF-SERVED COFFEE STARTS SATURDAY

Starting Saturday, self-served coffee will be available at the right-hand side of the coffee shop. This service initiated with the intention of speeding up service on the individual coffee orders. It will be in effect for a trial period of one month. If it is successful it may be continued. However, if the honour system is not satisfactory we will be obliged to revert to the previous method. Your earnest co-operation would be appreciated by the Student Recreation Centre.

FEATURES

PROTECTION ?

Just the other day eleven police officers were arrested in the Toronto Metropolitan Area on charges of theft and shop breaking. Some others were suspended from their duties because of alleged knowledge of the break-ins. It is significant that the errant constables were apprehended only after evidence was furnished by a private detective who had been hired by local industries in North York, a suburb of Toronto.

The fact that members of the very agency that is entrusted with the protection of the public commit such a breach of faith is deplorable enough, but even more regrettable is the apathy of the people who themselves would not participate in the crimes of their colleagues, but who at the same time fail to do anything whatever to prevent these evils. It is certainly no credit to the police that irregularities within their ranks had to be brought to light by private agencies.

This occurrence again indicates that man should not have blind trust in the institutions that he creates for his benefit. Every now and then he is rudely awakened to the unpleasant truth that the people that he commissioned with certain social functions have failed him pitifully. Why is this so? It seems to this writer that, once a community agency, such as a police force, has been established and operated satisfactorily for a while, the average citizen takes no more interest in it and blindly believes that everything will work out fine. This attitude of course is dangerous and fallacious, as proved by the incident in North York.

What then is to be done about the situation? The surest way to prevent further lapses appears to be every individual citizen's active interest in the affairs of his community. In our society it is necessary that some authority is delegated to certain people for the general benefit of the public; but the persons serving the community should be carefully chosen, and their conduct and efficiency ascertained from time to time. Only by continued individual and personal participation and interest in the public weal can a society be assured that its institutions will operate for the protection and furtherance of its ideals.

NEPTUNE'S COURT

The annual Teachers' Prom, this year labelled "Neptune's Court", was held on November 7th in the Women's Gymnasium at 9:30 p.m.

Dorothy Anderson, and Mr. Ray Simser and Miss Nancy Reid.

The gym was delightfully decorated following the motif of an underwater scene with a net suspended, lowering the ceiling, and coloured lights accentuating the sea-green walls upon which were painted reclining mermaids, starfish, and other creatures of the deep.

Two orchestras provided continuous music, happily causing the omission of the usual intervals between numbers.

At 11:15 and again at 12:15 supper was served in the dining room which had been transformed from its usual institutional aspect to a formal dining room by the addition of table cloths with centrepieces and a fire in the massive fireplace. Small sandwiches, sausage rolls, ice-cream and cake, and coffee were served buffet style.

The dance ended at 1:30 a.m. and it was agreed that the Prom was most successful, and that a vote of thanks should be given to all those who contributed in any way to make it such an enjoyable evening.

-Faith Clark.

TEACHERS' I CLASS PLAY

October 29, 1958 was the night for the production of the Teachers' I class play, "The Blue Stocking". This play was well presented and deserves consideration in the final selection of the winner for the Judy Bruger Trophy.

The cast: Glenna Bates, Sheila Mittleman, Pat Griffiths, Carol Jahin, James F. King and Andrew Burt were directed by Betty McCrea and Faith Clark, and were well supported by lighting and stage setting.

The presentation contained some flaws but they were overshadowed by the dramatic acting of the cast as a whole. Each actor played his and her part competently and some were extremely well done, for amateurs. The audience was gripped within the plot and acting of this dramatic-comedy.

Although the directors, Faith Clark and Betty McCrea, were amateurs, the direction was almost professional. Congratulations are due to Faith and Betty for contributing their time and assuring for Teachers' I an excellent production.

Special praise should also go to Nick Deutsch, the pianist, who played the overture before the curtain went up. With composition skill such as his, the Green and Gold will profit.

A BELATED COMMENTARY

On October 22nd, the Teachers in the 1st and 2nd year B.Ed. and Diploma groups presented "Invitation to Breakfast" by Mona Williams as their class play; the first in the competition series.

Although the plot was shallow, dealing with a conventional love-trouble theme, the cast portrayed their roles with such ease that the half hour's entertainment was rumoured by the general audience commentary to have been a success.

Many thanks go to everyone who donated a piece of scenery to make the setting so appropriate, and generously spent their precious hours helping in the many tasks connected with directing and producing the play.

THE SENIORS' CLASS PLAY

The Seniors' play, "The Proposal" by Anton Chekov, did not go over as well as the students of Macdonald College expected. In fact, the audience was quite disappointed with the Seniors.

John Eaton and Marilyn Anderson, who played Stepan Stepanovitch, and his daughter Natalya Stepanova, were rather weak in their voice production, but their mime was good. John Botman, who played the part of Ivan Vassilyevitch acted well. His actions were especially good, but, unfortunately, he faltered on a few lines which broke the mood of the play. Another drawback of "The Proposal" was the fact that the students had already read the play in high school, and that seemed to make it slow. We waited for Ivan and Natalya to kiss and make up at the end.

The setting was excellent. Its simplicity justified the mood, and atmosphere of "The Proposal". The make-up was perfect. There was neither too much nor too little. This aided the play considerably. But it is the writer's opinion that the Seniors could have done much better.

The President informed the Council that the organizations are to consider nothing until they receive, in writing, the decision of the Council.

The Students' Council had approximately $15,200 to work with. This is about $2,000 more than they had last year. But it must be remembered that the organizations this year are bigger and there are more clubs; therefore, the Council found that there was a considerable drain on its finances. Nevertheless, almost every organization submitted a budget was given money. Most of them within reasonable closeness to request. The most seriously short was the Men's Athletic Association. They asked $5,825; they received $3,780. It is about $2,000 short of its budget for '58-'59. There is a possibility that it may be able to receive money from some other source. This would have to be done on the approval of the Students' Council.

There were a few other decisions and reports given. The visiting rules at the infirmary must remain the same. This was particularly in respect to the visiting of female patients by men visitors or men patients by women. This is only reasonable. Miss Baily, however, will allow patients that are in proper physical condition to be dressed and meet visitors of the opposite sex in the hallway and lounge. She would like to have some games that could be played there, i.e. cribbage, checkers.

It should be brought to the knowledge of the individual student that he can have his matter brought up in the Students' Council by writing a letter to the secretary of the Council. This letter is automatically read at the next meeting. The Council has decided that the agenda of each meeting will be made known before each meeting. The Students' Council invites any student of Macdonald College to the weekly meetings. Next week's meeting is to be on Wed. night instead of on Tues., but this is only for this week.

SPORTS

SPORTS EDITORIAL

Every time I observe a team sport that involves referees and other officials, I am amazed at the hostility and resentment directed at them by the crowd. To say that the crowd's claims of unfairness were unjustified would be to make a gross understatement. Professional referees are, as a whole, unbiased and favour neither team.

Where, then, does this hostility and resentment stem from? From what I have seen of our inter-class leagues, the answer is obvious. Games being handled by inept, inexperienced and in most cases uninterested officials is the main cause. Football is—as are all body-contact sports—a rough game. But that does not excuse officials for being blind to flagrant breaches of the rules. If the referee does not control the game, it becomes merely an organized version of sporting slaughter. Control is certainly not gained by an official calling an infraction and then allowing both teams to yell at him in an attempt to sway his verdict in their favour.

A game is only as good as the officials who run it. The mere acquisition of a rule book, coupled with several hours of diligent study, may save someone a serious or crippling injury. It would be advisable if those people that are in charge with the appointment of officials in the sports of this college follow some such suggestion.

CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

The sun shone down brightly upon the twenty-nine bronzed competitors. Lining up, they smoothly broke from the starting line, beginning Macdonald's 2 1/2 mile cross-country race.

Running smoothly and steadily with a style reminiscent of the great distance runner, Emile Zatopek, Roht took the lead. Briefly challenged by Marsh, Roht managed to keep ahead. Still running like a well-oiled machine he crossed the finish line in the commendable time of 14 minutes 50 seconds. All in all, a well-run race and hotly contested right down to the wire.

The following is a breakdown of the first five runners and class points earned

1st	J. Roht	Frosh	Class Points: Frosh	50
2nd	D. Marsh	Juniors	Dips	41
3rd	B. Murray	Frosh	Juniors	33
4th	S. Portch	Juniors	Sophs	27
5th	G. Grose	Dips	Seniors	22

INTERCLASS SPORTS

FOOTBALL

The suicide league is still going full blast. As a matter of fact, it blew straight right end turned left half, Andy Burt, right into the infirmary with a slight concussion. When he came out of the fog his first statement was "Did I make the line of scrimmage?" This statement typifies the desire and drive of the teams in this league.

At the present time the standings are as follows:-

Juniors - 10 points; Sophs - 9 points; Frosh - 6 points; Seniors - 4 points; Teachers - 3 points.

HOCKEY

Coach Bob Pugh is waxing very merry these days. The opening practice for aspirants to a berth on the varsity squad, found themselves a rather large group. Some sixty j-strappers found the going rather tough, as coach Pugh has now cut the number down to a more manageable size and divided the players into two squads. One is the Varsity and a newly formed B team.

It's a little early in the season to predict the eventual destiny of this year's aggregation. However, if they keep up the general hustle and desire that was evident in the first few practices, they should give a fairly good account of themselves.

BASKETBALL

Interclass basketball got underway Nov. 10 with three games played in the league. Keen competition is very much in evidence in spite of some of the nocturnal games being played rather late. The results up to press time are as follows:

Teachers - 40; Seniors - 24; Sophs - 21; Freshmen - 24; Dips - 37; Juniors - 30.

GOLDEN BALL TOURNAMENT

Macdonald College was well represented in the annual Golden Ball Tournament. They defeated their hard fighting opponents, Taurus, by a 69 to 55 score at Macdonald. The game was fiercely contested with the half time score reading Mac 25 and Taurus 15. At the end of the regular play the teams were all tied up 51-51. Mac settled down for the five minutes overtime period and connected for 18 points while Taurus answered with 4.

The game was a spellbinder but due to the earliness of the season the play was a bit to be ragged. However, we can look forward to seeing an improvement in the ball handling of the team as a whole. Standouts offensively were Carrier and Barkov with 32 and 15 points respectively. On defense, Chuprun and Walker were standouts.

Try-outs and practices for the Intercollegiate swim team will start Thursday, Nov. 20th, and will be held on Tuesdays and Thursday from 8-9 p.m. Our coach this year is Miss Walker, and it looks as if we are in for a good swimming year. Speed swimmers are welcome.

Last night the Interclass swim meet was held. Results will be published in the Failt-Ye next week.

BOYS!...and...GIRLS!.... Tonight (Friday, Nov. 14th) marks the beginning of Friday mixed swims from 8-9:45 p.m. Let's see lots of people making use of this activity!

Mary Lawson, Swimming Manager.

CURLING

With the opening of the rink, curling will officially start on November 15 and 16. There was supposed to be curling this past week end, but due to the fact that the lines were not painted we could not curl.

With the membership up considerably this year from last year it is hoped that all the avid curlers and beginners will have a chance to participate in "the roaring game" each week end.

Plans are in the making for a bonspiel, and it is hoped that an invitational bonspiel can be held in conjunction with the winter carnival in February.

WOMEN'S SOCCER TEAM VICTORIOUS

On Wednesday, October 29, Mac played against and were victorious over McGill. In spite of the fact that the game was played under lights, and in mud, which were certainly more of a hinderance than a help, Mac held the lead and won 8-0.

MAC WINDS UP THE SEASON WITH ANOTHER VICTORY

On October 31, the Mac women's soccer team was victorious over Johnson Teachers' College. The Johnson team was quite a match for Mac, but it just couldn't get the ball into Mac's goal. The final score was 10-2 in favour of Mac. Everyone who participated in the game deserves mention for all played like pros.

This game wound up the season for Mac, and a very successful season it turned out to be! Mac played five games winning four and tying one.

Congratulations to all those who turned out for the game. We hope to see just as many next year.

Ella May Bradley,
Manager.
